Land Rover G4 Challenge: Bolivia

A talk by:

Brian Reynolds

A test of personal and mechanical endurance, Land Rover's G4 Challenge, an odyssey over 4 continents, ended in Bolivia last Summer after passing through 4 countries (Thailand Laos, Brasil and Bolivia. Competing for Britain was Brian Reynolds—an engineer from Chesterfield.

The finale was in Potosi, and Brian Reynolds won the Team Spirit Award. He will tell us about how he came to be involved, and how he and his vehicle coped with the extremes of Bolivia—from low lying planes to the high salt flats at Uyuni. More details on the G4 Challenge website at <http://www.landroverg4challenge.com>

The Challenge was filmed for TV, and the talk will be illustrated with video, and Brian's own photographs.
