HE Nigel Baker has been the UK's Ambassador to Bolivia since September 2007. In a rare opportunity to hear from the His Excellency, he will update us on the events there of the past 12 months since his last talk to the Society, reflecting upon a year that has seen Evo Morales re-elected by a landslide and Bolivia rise to international prominence - playing an active role at the United Nations Climate Change Conference in Copenhagen, and organising the World People's Conference on Climate Change and the Rights of Mother Earth in Cochabamba.

The Ambassador will consider the relationship between Britain and Bolivia, including the UK's involvement in Climate Change programmes, support for Bolivian government programmes with the Armed Forces and National Police on Citizen Security, and prospects for British companies such as those active in the hydrocarbon, power generation and manufacturing sectors.

The event will take place under Chatham House Rules. There will be time for questions at the end. We are grateful to the Inter-Parliamentary Union and Chris Bryant MP for enabling us to use the venue.
