Presents a talk by

The UK Ambassador to Bolivia: HE Nigel Baker

British Ambassador to Bolivia, Nigel Baker, with members of both the ALPEVE association of street shoe-shine boys and the Special Anti-narcotics Police (FELCN).

HE Nigel Baker has been Ambassador to Bolivia since September 2007 and this will be a rare opportunity to hear a personal, yet authoritative, perspective on recent events in Bolivia, including the implications of the recent referendum for a new Constitution, from someone who is close to where the action is.

The Ambassador will also reflect on developments in the relationship between Britain and Bolivia, including the recent decision to require visas of all Bolivian visitors to Britain from May this year, and, on a lighter note, share with us some of his personal experiences of living in Bolivia, which have included getting his feet wet in the Beni floods of 2008, watching the glaciers melt on Chacaltaya, sampling wine in Tarija and off-roading in Potosi.

The event will take place under Chatham House Rules, and there will be time for questions at the end.
